

VIOLENCE FLARES ALONG STEEL FRONT AS 100,000 STRIKE

Management and Labor Are Locked in Greatest Struggle of Two Decades

THREE PLANTS CLOSED

Fist Fights, Firing of Shots and Alleged Beating of Workers Reported

(By International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, May 27—Violence flared today along the far-flung steel strike front as management and labor were locked in their greatest struggle in almost two decades with close to 100,000 men on strike, closing down the giant plants of three of the nation's largest independent steel producers—Republic Steel, Youngstown Sheet & Tube, and Inland Steel.

Fist fights, firing of shots, alleged beatings of workers and strikers, with police hastily mobilized and armed with tear gas marked the first day of the strike in Youngstown, Chicago and Canton, Ohio.

At Canton, Franklin P. Manly, 32, a foreman employed by the Berger Manufacturing Company, strike-closed Republic Steel Corporation's subsidiary, was wounded in both hands and both legs early today by a buck shot charge as he attempted to enter company premises.

Manly, police reported, was shot by a company policeman.

At least six men were reported beaten up at Youngstown, with two forced to drop from a bridge to escape pickets.

REVOLT SPREADS TO SENATE

WASHINGTON, May 27—(INS)—The House revolt against granting administration a "blank check" to spend for proposed $1,500,000,000 relief fund spread to the Senate today, as House leaders girded themselves for decisive votes on the issue.

Even though House administration leaders succeed in forcing the House to reverse its previous action in earmarking $505,000,000 for flood control, highways and PWA projects, the fight will be renewed in the Senate. As the House entered into its third day of battle over the fund, there was a possibility that final action may be postponed until next week.

EARLE'S 'MUST' MEASURES NOW NEAR ENACTMENT

Legislative Log-Jam is Broken
By Decision Session Must Continue to Next Week

SEE SWIFT CLEAN-UP

By J. William Theis
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

HARRISBURG, May 27—(INS)—Broken at last by a decision that the session must continue into next week, the Legislative log-jam cascaded Gov. George H. Earle's remaining "must" measures toward enactment today.

Administration hopes for sine die adjournment by Friday died under the cold scrutiny of a joint Democratic caucus, but administration pressure simultaneously loosed from House committees the controversial relief, police merger and liquor control bills.

Near dawn today the Democratic majority, fagged out from political bickering and printing delays, rescinded its May 28 adjournment schedule and agreed to return Tuesday for a swift clean-up of the Earle program. The Legislature was to adjourn for the week-end late today.

These developments, pale somewhat in the light of the adjournment decision, marked near-closing hours of the 132nd session's 21st week:

1. Three major items—the McGinnis bill.

MANY TREES PLANTED IN COUNTY THIS SPRING

Two Score Persons and Firms Participated in The Work

FAST NUMBER IN STATE

The State Department of Forests and Waters shipped this Spring nearly 100,000 plants for reforestation. Two score persons and firms in Bucks county received an allotment of these plants. This is more than the number set out during the entire year of 1936.

This Spring's planting in Bucks county compares very favorably with that in the surrounding counties. Berks leads the other counties in southeastern Pennsylvania with a total of 168,000 and Lehigh county is second with 114,000.

The stock sent out from State nurseries is largely coniferous of the following species: white pine, red pine, pitch pine, Scotch pine, Norway spruce, larch, locust, etc. Aside from the standpoint of producing timber, the trees will restore the ground cover on approximately 100 acres; thereby conserving moisture, retarding soil erosion, supply game food and cover as well as provide other benefits in which the State authorities are primarily interested.

Of the 29 planters in Bucks county, the largest number of trees was set out on the grounds of the Thomas Erwin place, Point Pleasant.

Fourteen thousand, 500 were planted in places unsuitable for farming and some were used to reinforce understocked woodlands.

Five thousand trees were planted on lands belonging to J. F. Wischusen, Chalfont, and the borough of Sellersville were supplied 4,000.

Other orders were smaller in number and were shipped to persons in the northern part of the county. Forester E. F. Brooks reports nearly 31,000 acres in Bucks county in need.

EARLE URGES SUPPORT FOR PRESIDENT

"Congress is preparing to earmark President Roosevelt's $1,500,000,000 relief program for various projects, many requiring little relief labor, thereby defeating proposal of the President to provide maximum unemployment relief," the telegram said. "I am urging Pennsylvania Congressmen to support the President's plan and if they wish such projects, to appropriate additional funds."

Industrial Stability Threatened

New York, May 27—High taxes, deliberately fostered labor unrest and "shocking violations of the law at industrial centers" are threatening the future stability of the steel industry, Eugene G. Grace, president of the Bethlehem Steel Company, said today.

He spoke as retiring president of the American Iron and Steel Institute, holding its annual meeting here.

"Employment is at a new high level with 577,000 men at work," he said. "If the rate of operation for this year continues, the ingot output will be close to 60,000,000 tons as compared with the 55,433,000 tons in the record year of 1929."

To Adjourn Congress in July

Washington, May 27—Administration leaders started a drive today to adjourn Congress in July.

This plan apparently contemplated a postponement of action on President Roosevelt's Supreme Court bill until next Winter when Congress meets next January in its second session. There was no indication it can win the President's approval.

Administration leaders displayed widespread reluctance to staging a finish fight on the President's other bill. They privately hold out little hope of winning such a contest, and dislike the thought of a Summer battle in Washington's heat, while the President seems to have killed all chances of compromising an issue.

200 WPA EMPLOYEES

MORRISVILLE, May 27—(INS)—To free Delaware River front residents of the area of the fear of floods, 200 WPA workers today began work on a $200,000 dyke, which will stretch along the Pennsylvania shore for a distance of 4,100 feet.

The dyke, being financed by $110,000 from the State Department of Forests and Waters, and a $92,000 WPA grant, will run along the riverfront from the Bridge street bridge to the Calhoun street bridge.

William Wilhelm, chief WPA engineer of Bucks County, declared Morrisville high school's modern athletic field, and approximately 50 residents on an island opposite this community, will be given adequate protection.

Benjamin I. Walker, of Richboro, state engineer in charge of the project, said the plan called for five automatic flood gates in the concrete dykes, and two large gates across the back channel.

BRISTOL TOWNSHIP GRADUATES PRESENT SPLENDID CANTATA

Seventy-Three Eighth Grade
Students Are Promoted
To High School

A. C. RUTTER SPEAKS

American Legion Medals Are Given to Sarah Agnes Brummett, and George Strickler

Seventy-three girls and boys, pupils of Bristol Township public schools, who recently passed the eighth grade examinations given by the county superintendent's office, received their certificates of promotion to high school at graduation exercises last evening, in Bristol high school auditorium.

The graduates presented during the early part of the program a cantata, "Rip Van Winkle" (Ira B. Wilson), with honor students taking part in other portions of the program also.

Features of the evening also included an address by Albert C. Rutter, assistant superintendent of Bucks County public schools, and presentation of American Legion awards.

The recipients of the American Legion medals, last evening, were Sarah Agnes Brummett, valedictorian of the class, and George W. Strickler. These awards were presented on behalf of the American Legion, Robert W. Bracken Post, No. 382, and the American Legion Auxiliary, by Hugh B. Eastburn, and Mrs. Harry Wessaw, members of the post and auxiliary.

The medal presented to Miss Brummett was for honor, courage, scholarship, leadership, service and Americanism. The one for the young man recipient was for courage, honor, service, leadership, scholarship. Mr. Eastburn, in making the presentation, told of the aim of the American Legion in sponsoring the awarding of such medals all over the country. When the men returned from the World War they had a desire to better conditions in this country. One of their aims was the education of youth—education to be better citizens.

Mr. Rutter, in addressing the class of 73 graduates, and the large company of relatives and friends attending the exercises, deplored the loss of students during the grammar school period. "School is a better place than being on the streets, or out in life with nothing to do," he stated. Turning to another channel the assistant superintendent told of the pleasure that is derived from doing deeds of kindness. "Good turns go a long way," he reminded as he told of returns from messages of cheer and encouragement given out from day to day.

Presentation of a gift to the Croydon school on behalf of members of the staff of "Goody Gossip," the school paper, was made by William Johnson. This gift was a banner in the colors of maroon and gold, on which appeared the words "Bristol Township."

Awarding of the diplomas was made by Ira C. Brown, president of the board of school directors of the township, aided by William J. Kines, supervising principal of the Bristol Township public schools.

WHEN WINDSOR MARRIES

To the romantically inclined, there is apt to be something akin to persecution in the attitude of the British government toward the Duke of Windsor.

June 3rd is the day. The ceremony will be private. No member of the duke's family will be present, nor will the British government be represented. A few guests, the required witnesses and the servants, these comprise the list of expected attendants. No royal splendor will be part of the ceremony.

Perhaps this will be no disappointment to the man and the woman who are to take on the responsibilities of united life. The first yielded the world's greatest crown for the American woman who could not otherwise be his wife. The second gives herself as compensation.

Although circumstances, aided by a square jawed British conservatism, put the two on the level of private individuals they will never be removed from public interest. And there will be a feeling that the conservatism might have lifted its ban to the extent of permitting the royal duke's family to be represented at his wedding.

A LOSS TO THE COURT

For twenty-six years Justice Willis Van Devanter has been a member of the Supreme Court of the United States. During that time he has endeavored constantly to uphold the Constitution of the United States, undeterred by and appearing not to notice the whims of passing demagogues.

Member of the Wyoming Territorial legislature, and later Chief Justice of the State of Wyoming, Justice Van Devanter came to the Supreme Court in 1910 by appointment of President Taft with a splendid equipment and training for his duties. For more than a quarter of a century he contributed ably to the deliberations of the highest tribunal.

Upon announcement of his retirement, Chief Justice Hughes said:

"The retirement of Justice Van Devanter is a most serious loss to the court. His long judicial experience, his extraordinary memory and grasp of precedents, his acumen and fairness enabled him to render a service of inestimable value in our deliberations, while his equitable temperament, his tact and unfailing kindness made him an ideal associate. We shall greatly miss him."

Justice Van Devanter has nobly earned a rest. His place will be filled, in a manner, by someone—but not by a Van Devanter.

WHO FINANCED IT?

A women's brigade of some 50 members met in Washington the other day to demand that Congress shall appropriate three billions for relief.

Representing thousands of families that depend on the works progress administration for a living, the delegation planned to ask individual congressmen to support a relief fund twice as large as that requested by President Roosevelt.

Most of the delegates are wives of works progress administration workers. Some are widows or single women themselves on works progress administration rolls.

All of which is interesting, no doubt. But naturally the question arises, Who has financed this gathering? It is not presumed that WPA workers have excess amounts of money. It costs money to go to Washington. It costs money to stay in Washington. It costs money to get home again. Who paid the bills?

ODD FELLOWS CAPTURE 2ND STRAIGHT VICTORY

BRISTOL TWILIGHT LEAGUE
—Schedule for Tonight—
ODD FELLOWS - SUPERIOR
(Leedom's)

The teams of the Bristol Twilight League were drawn closer last night as the Odd Fellows captured their second straight victory and advanced into third place in the league standing. The losing club was the Rohm & Haas Chemical Company nine with the final tabulations being: Odd Fellows, 9; Rohm & Haas, 3.

The defeat sent the chemical mixers tumbling into the cellar, resting at the bottom with the Grundy mill team. The clubs from third place down have won two games each. The only difference is in the loss column with the Odds losing two, St. Ann's, 3; and both Grundy and Rohm and Haas, 4.

Eleven hits rattled off the bats of the winning combination. Freddie Hibbs led the assault on the two chemical mixers' moundsmen by getting a triple and two singles in three official trips to the plate. For the losing club, Art Puoco had three singles. He relieved Jefferies in the sixth.

"Johnny" Dick was very effective in the pinches and aided his own cause by hitting a home run in the second inning.

OLD TIME REMINDER

DAISY, Ky.—(INS)—A giant yellow poplar tree, with 450 rings in the stump and believed to be a sapling when America was discovered, was cut from a forest in the Lynn Fork, Perry county, region, recently. The tree, from its base to the first limb, produced five 16-foot logs, and was eight feet in diameter four feet from the ground and five feet approximately 16 feet up.

Mr. and Mrs. William Bowman and daughter Betty, Edgely; and Mrs. George Bowman, Garfield street, spent Sunday in Coatesville, visiting relatives.

at 10 a. m., at the bridge approach and Bristol Pike, from which point they will continue to Bristol Cemetery to conduct Memorial service. The Rev. Solia will be the speaker at the cemetery, after which post members will place wreaths on the grave of Joseph A. Schumacher, which deceased veteran the post is named for.

All veterans and friends have been invited by the Schumacher Post to attend these services.

Following the program at the cemetery, the group will form in parade at Croydon Manor to join other organizations for the regular parade through Croydon.

Earle's 'Must' Measures Now Near Enactment

labor relations measure, the $5,000,000 flood control appropriation bill and the 44-hour week bill for women—cleared the General Assembly and reached the Governor's desk.

2. The House, fighting down an abortive one-member attempt to table the document approved a conference committee report on the $3,500,000 chain store and theatre tax bill. A companion bill earmarking the funds for fourth class school districts was sent to the House for concurrence.

3. Unchanged from the form in which they passed the Senate, the administration bills to consolidate relief and public assistance—including the Poor Board "ripper" bill—emerged from the House welfare committees. The "ripper" bill was "booted" out by administrative leaders.

4. Seven bills to accomplish the merger of the State Police and Highway Patrol into a new Pennsylvania Motor Police were reported to the House. They were to receive two readings and be recommended for final action next week.

5. Simultaneously, the trio of controversial bills for more stringent control of beer and liquor, sponsored by the State Liquor Control Board, found their way to the House floor.

6. After a battle over attempted reinsertion of exemption amendments, the Administration's full crew train bill passed the Senate, 31 to 17. With the trouble-stirring workmen's compensation bill, which also passed the Senate finally, the full crew bill was to come up for House concurrence today.

7. Weeks behind its companion "ripper" bill, the Public Utility Commission regulatory measure was ready for final Senate passage today. It must yet receive House concurrence in amendments.

8. The Senate also was to pass finally the $4,837,000 June relief appropriation bill, "stop-gap" appropriation bills for old age and blind pensions and mothers' assistance, a $3,500,000 "interim" appropriation for the State payroll, and was to act on House non-concurrence in the bill to abolish company-paid deputy sheriffs.

9. Enactment of the "Little NRA" for used car dealers was delayed in the House by insertion of amendments to remove "staggered" terms of the bill's fair rate board members. An attempt to call a public hearing on the bill next week was defeated.

10. A conference committee assigned to consider the administration anti-stream pollution bill was to report today.

Administration leaders estimated since the adjournment under the new schedule would come some time next Thursday. Majority leaders were determined to close shop for the week-end as soon as the June emergency relief appropriation passes this afternoon.

Many Trees Planted In County This Spring

of reforestation. There are many acres of uncultivated land and poorly stocked woodland on farms in the upper part of the county, he states. It is suggested that such areas might well be planted in trees.

The prospects for a much increased planting program are unusually bright for 1938. Applications for more than one hundred thousand trees for planting southeastern Pennsylvania already are on file in the Norristown office.

An illustrated circular is available to prospective planters, free of charge. Descriptions are given of the important timber trees raised in the State forest tree nurseries. It contains, also, full information on the approved planting methods, the spacing distance to be used and the kinds of soil to which different trees are adapted. All of the information that a prospective planter needs in order to select the kind of tree for reforestation is given.

If a sizeable acreage is to be planted a Department representative will examine the area without charge and make specific recommendations. Seedlings are sold by the Department at a price of $2 per thousand and transplants at $5 per thousand. One thousand will reforest nearly an acre. The trees average 6 inches to 8 inches in height. The stock is for reforestation only. It may not be planted for ornamental use, for windbreaks or Christmas trees. Orders are not accepted for quantities of less than 1,000. Persons who contemplate planting next Spring are urged to file their applications within the next month or two.

If you bust into your own garage doors in your back yard and damage exceeds $25 that's also a reportable accident.

FRENCH CAPITAL GAY AS PARIS EXPOSITION DRAWS TOURISTS

By ANDRE MARINET
International Illustrated News Writer

PARIS—Opening of the much-heralded Paris exposition promises to give the French capital one of its gayest seasons in recent years.

Thousands of visitors to the British coronation have arranged their schedules so as to stop in at the exposition after seeing something of the English countryside. Additional thousands are expected from many of the 42 countries which have exhibits entered.

Twice postponed because of delays caused by labor trouble and international complications, the exposition will not be complete until after June 1. Many of the national exhibits, including those of United States and Great Britain, lagged considerably behind schedule.

Aside from minor difficulties and delays, however, the project has taken shape in impressive manner. Approximate cost of the exposition is about $80,000,000 of which some $15,000,000 has been spent on construction of permanent buildings which will serve as museums and auditoriums when the fair is over.

Eiffel Tower Revamped
More than 250 acres are included in the exposition grounds which center around the famed Eiffel Tower. This historic structure will also serve as the control point for all lighting and sound effects. New floodlights and illumination make it possible to see the Eiffel Tower at night for a distance of 60 miles.

Extending along the River Seine, the exposition grounds sweep along a distance of five miles, occupying the entire area from the Trocadero to the Ecole Militaire, the French West Point. Situated along both banks of the river will be the numerous national pavilions and the legion of French exhibits.

Two of the most impressive of the national exhibits are those of Russia and Germany. Each is devoted to a display designed to review the progress of the new order in each nation and lure the tourist trade for which each European nation is competing so strenuously.

"Light and Sound" Is Motif
"Light and Sound" is the theme of the exposition. This motif will be carried out with extensive exhibits of the newest in radio, television and other forms of communication, and by elaborate lighting effects. Musical fountains enhanced by vari-colored lights dot the broad expanse of the show grounds; far-flung searchlights sweep their giant beams across the heavens, and indirect lighting effects make the exposition promenades fairy-like avenues of beauty.

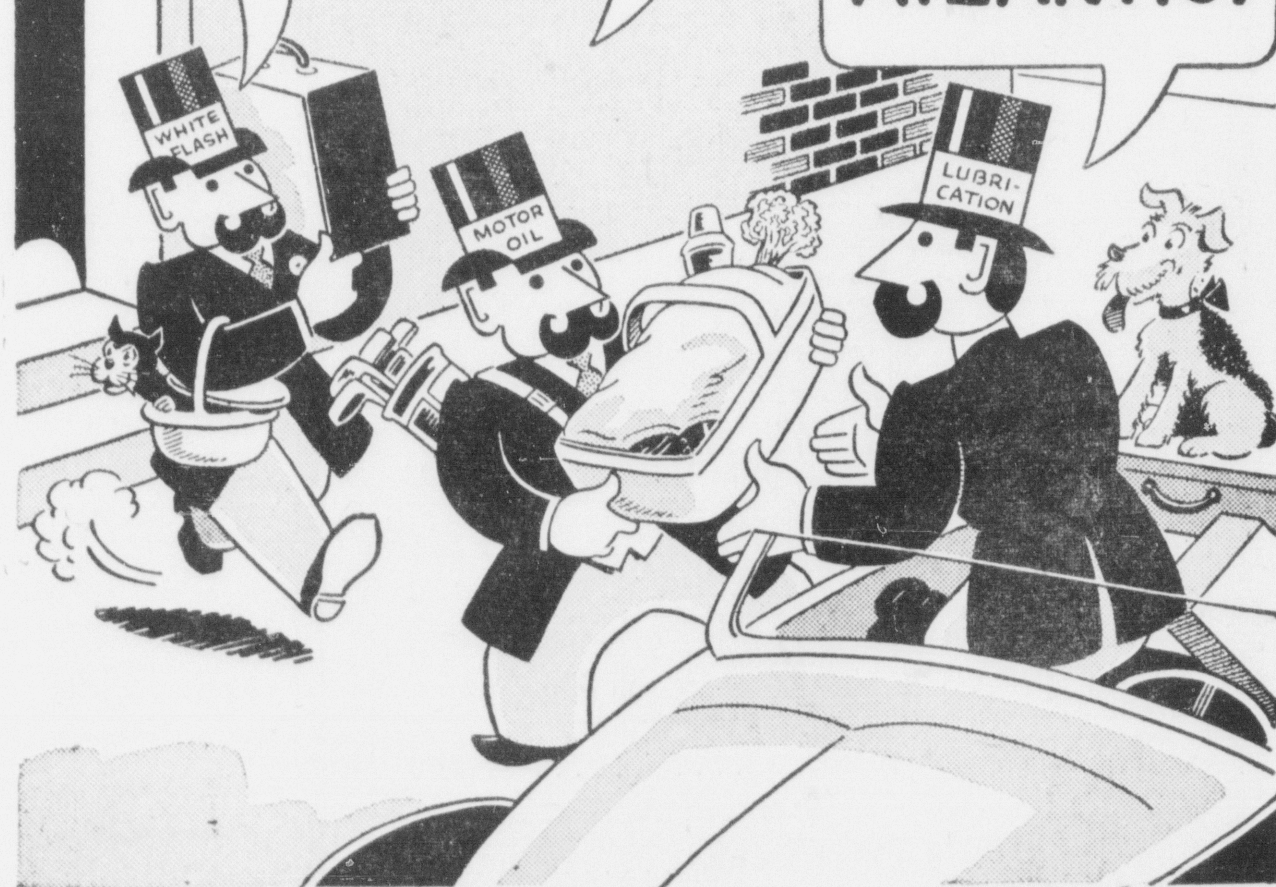

More than 40,000 workmen have been employed on the project, working in day and night shifts during recent weeks. Every resource at command was enlisted by Premier Leon Blum, one of the moving forces behind the idea, to make the exposition a triumph.

One difficulty which may hamper the success of the exposition is the current ruling of numerous European nations that their citizens can take only a limited amount of money with them when traveling outside their native country. But efforts are being made to obtain special concessions for those who wish to visit the exposition.

How to keep the family fit!

1. We recommend a family health outing. Get out in the country on a warm bright day — country air is a tonic for the entire family.
2. Find a grove of shady trees — rest and relaxation beneath green trees is a boon to jagged nerves.
3. When hunger pangs assail you lunch on tasty sandwiches.

NOTE: Memorial Day is this week-end — why not plan an old-fashioned picnic? Get the family together — pack a basketful of tempting sandwiches...

(And when mayonnaise is needed, be sure it's UNITY — the mayonnaise that's extra creamy and always fresh.)

You can easily prepare a delicious sandwich spread by mixing one ten-cent tin of Underwood's Deviled Ham and a big tablespoonful of UNITY MAYONNAISE. (Spread it thin on buttered bread.)

King Features Syndicate, Inc. HOLLYWOOD—Light Camera! Action! After those days in the courtroom, speaking lines on a movie set in the presence of 20 or 30 people seems like the height of privacy to Clark Gable.

Jean Harlow

The star, 20 pounds thinner these days, is doing a scene with Jean Harlow for "Saratoga". It is a typical Gable-Harlow scene. In other words, they are fighting. Movie fans ate it up in "Red Dust", "Hold Your Man", "China Seas". They'll probably do it again in "Saratoga".

Gable is a bookmaker and Jean is the daughter of an old crony, who has gone to England to get refinement and who has come back with a swelled head and a ritzy accent.

In this particular scene, she is accusing Gable of trying to take some property away from her grandfather and is telling him that her rich fiancé will buy it back from him.

He just sits and looks at her until she is finished. "Is that all," he says, "before I reach for a hairbrush?"

We settle back to see Harlow get the spanking, but Director Jack Conway says "cut".

After all, what do you expect with double features.

Kenny Baker, who won fame over the radio, is getting his first real break as a screen actor in "Mr. Dodd Takes the Air". We watch him do a scene where he ought to feel right at home—in a broadcasting station.

Two other people are in the scene, Jane Wyman, another newcomer, and Frank McHugh, a veteran.

Baker is a small-town boy with a voice. McHugh is trying to promote him and Jane Wyman is an employee of the station.

Director Al Green coaches Baker and Miss Wyman carefully in their lines. McHugh, who has to do most of the talking, gets only a few suggestions.

For greenhorns, the two young people catch on quickly. They get the scene over in a couple of takes.

We ask Green about Baker's possibilities.

He shifts his cigar and says: "The boy has a great voice, personality, youth—he's six feet tall and photographs marvelously. What more can you want?"

There is no greater Hollywood drama than a star in the making, but, for old-timers, there is another reason why "Mr. Dodd Takes the Air" will be watched with interest. And that is the renewed association of Mervyn Le Roy and Al Green. Not so many years ago, Le Roy was a clever youngster working on Green's staff. Now, he is a producer and is entrusting his old boss with the third picture on his program for Warner Brothers.

Eleanor Powell and George Murphy are dancing against time on the set of "Broadway Melody of 1937". They have to do a whole number before night, because the set has to be struck to make way for the big night club where M. G. M. will have its convention ball. The name of the number is "Feelin' Like a Million", but Eleanor and Murphy are not feeling that way. They've been going since early morning and they've danced on wooden floors, macadam, composition floors, grass and stone.

There is a spring to wooden floors that makes it easy on dancers' feet, but the harder surfaces are muscle punishers. Eleanor stops to straighten her wrinkles out of her hose (a perpetual gesture) and feels her toes gingerly. "I've got two blisters that big," she says. But when the music starts, she whirls out on the floor again and doesn't miss a beat of the rhythm. All Hollywood will tell you that Eleanor Powell can take it.

Eleanor Powell

John W. Baxter, Sr., will be the leader at the Epworth League meeting next Sunday evening. Mrs. William A. Thomas will be host to her card club next Thursday evening. Mr. and Mrs. William Bazzel, Mr. and Mrs. Wilmer Gorton, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Stout and children, and Mrs. Jeanette Leedom spent the week-end in Wildwood, N. J. Mrs. Edwin A. Roth, Sr., has returned from the Jefferson Hospital, Philadelphia, where she has been under observation for the past week.

HOUSE OF DAVID NINE WINS OVER LANDRETH

Despite the threatening weather, the largest crowd of the season was on hand last night on the Landreth ball field as the House of David team came to Bristol and conquered the Landreth Seeds nine, 6-1, in a fast ball game.

The fans were pleased at the playing of the bearded team, especially the exhibition it gave in the sixth when they put on some amusing tactics with the aid of a very large baseball bat. The called it the "pepper game."

But back to the ball game. The bewhiskered players appeared to be off form in the first when they committed three errors to give the seedlets their only tally. Then they tightened up and kept the homers away from the plate the rest of the evening.

On the firing line for the localites was "Howie" Black. Black held the invaders scoreless for the first four frames but a misjudged fly gave them two runs in the fifth and Milner's home run accounted for another in the sixth. The barnstorming aggregation put the game on ice in the ninth with a trio of markers.

"Johnny" Cliney served them for the House of David club and held the Farmers to six measly hits. He would have earned a shutout if his club had not faltered behind his hurling in the first. "Bill" Harvi connected for two of the Landrethmen safe blows.

Miller attempted to start something for the David team in the first after Sheldown had fled out. He lined a hit to deep short and immediately stole second. On Vann's tap to Black, he was run down, Black to Liberator to Dougherty. Purcell hung on to Cohen's line drive.

The only run for Landreth came in their turn with the stick. Rockhill hit to left for two bags. Liberator received a free ticket to first. Dougherty forced Liberator at second. On attempted double play, Vann tossed wild to first, Rockhill scoring. Harvi forced Dougherty but Vann and Cohen got their signals crossed and neither covered second. Deboskey fled out after Broderick forced Harvi.

A fast play at the plate nipped a troublesome start for the visiting team in the second. Woods hit to center for a base. Woods was caught off first on Broderick's throw to Sullivan. Milner singled to right. On Pierson's two-base hit to center, Milner was out at the plate, Rockhill to Deboskey to Broderick.

Landreth's had to do some fast playing to prevent a House of David score in the third. Cliney singled to left and Shadowen hit safely to center, Cliney going to third. In an attempted double-steal, Shadowen was caught at second, Broderick to Liberator. Cliney held on to third, Miller walked. On another attempted double-steal, Cliney was nailed at the plate by Liberator's fast return to Broderick.

A scoring opportunity went to waste in the Landreth part of the frame. Dougherty grounded out, Purcell fanned, and Deboskey rolled to the pitcher.

The Benton Harbor club scored its first runs in the fifth. Sheffe doubled to left. Cliney fled to Purcell. Shadowen fled to Dougherty. Miller hit a high fly behind the pitcher's box which fell safe for a fluke hit, Sheffe scoring. Vann hit to left for two bases, scoring Miller. Vann was nipped at third, Purcell, Deboskey to Dougherty.

Milner's home run gave the visitors a run in the sixth while in the ninth, three runs were manufactured. Dougherty made a leaping catch of Wood's line drive. Milner's skier was basketed by Liberator. Pierson connected for his second double. Black passed Scheffe. Cliney scored Pierson with a long single. Sheffe and Pierson both crossed the plate on Shadowen's two-bagger along the left field foul line.

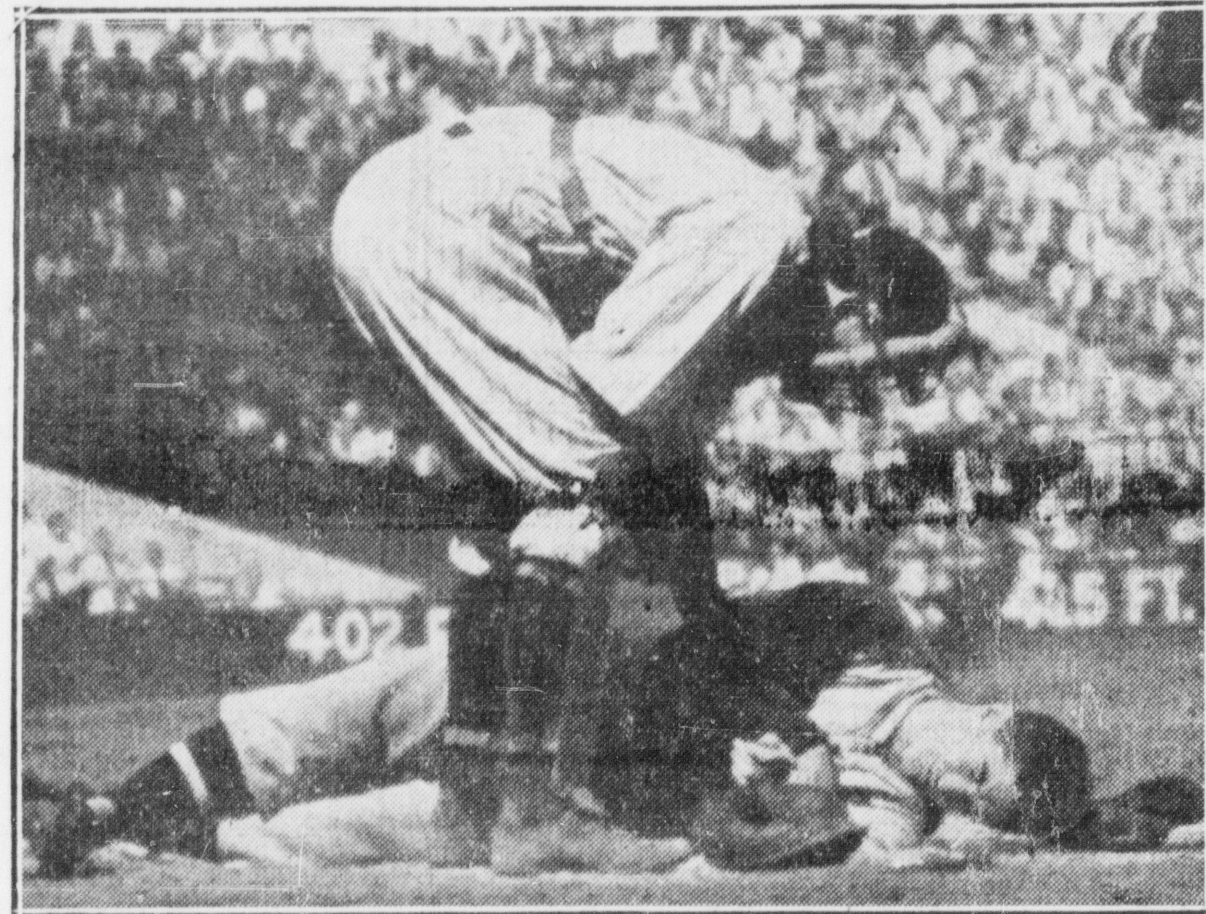

Landreth's plays Wisconsin on the latter's field Saturday and returns home Sunday to meet the Scanlon Catholic Club.

90 FAST HORSES ARE ENTERED AT VILLAGE FARM

With about 90 of the East's fastest half mile track harness horses snugly stabled at the Village Farm, Langhorne, for the three day race meeting starting tomorrow and continuing on Saturday and Monday, the opening of the 1937 harness horse season bids fair to be an auspicious one.

For the past several days stables have been rolling in to the track from North Carolina, Virginia, Delaware, New York, New Jersey, and Pennsylvania has its share too.

The horse show on Decoration Day and Sunday for the benefit of the fire departments of Langhorne, Yardley, Newtown and South Langhorne drew an entry list of 75 top-notch steeds. Several stables will arrive Decoration Day from the Devon horse show which will not be in progress on Sunday.

Starter Steve Phillips will call the races at 2 p. m. (DST) each day and the horse show will get under way at 10 a. m. with ringmaster Roland Baker, of Philadelphia, in charge.

Friday's card is as follows: 2-year-old trot; 3-year-old pace; and a 2:23 pace. The racing events on Saturday will be: 2-year-old pace; 3-year-old trot; and a 2:23 trot. Monday has four races carded in the 2:13 trot, 2:13 pace; the 2:17 trot, and the 2:17 pace, all for $300 purses and trophies.

The horse show has an hour's intermission at one p. m. Eating facilities will be provided each day and the numerous shade trees make cool spots for picnic lunches.

Beside the speed card there will be a daily parade of the farm stallions in front of the grandstand. The Village Farm, one of the nation's best breeding establishments, has five successful stallions.

Leading the parade will be Abbedale, 2:01 1/4, the leading living sire of pacers in the United States. He is a handsome black stud and presents an impressive picture, especially when the sun shines down upon his well groomed sleek black coat.

Following his daddy will be His Majesty, 1:59 1/2, a majestic son of Abbedale which went the races and proved his worth by taking a race record of better than two minutes. Others in the parade of horse flesh will be Red Aubrey, the promising young sire of trotters, Signal Peter, and Berry the Great.

The second item of interest will be the daily exhibition of two historic racing vehicles. One is a four-wheeler which Flora Temple drew when she established the then world trotting record of 2:19 1/4 soon after the Civil War. The second "wagon" has but two wheels and was drawn by Maud S, when she brought the trotting record down to 2:05 1/4 around 1875. They are the property of Ellis and will be pulled by a present day steed on the track.

RE-BOOK BEST BOUT OF OPENING CARD

The bout which many fans thought the best of last week's card has been re-matched for Monday night, according to Sammy Moffo, who is booking the amateur shows for the St. Ann's Athletic Association. The participants in that bout were two colored boys, Sylvester Purnell, St. Ann's, and Nelson Canty, Wharton A. C. Both weigh in the 165-pound class.

Canty carried the decision last week but by a very scant margin. In fact, the Purple and Gold fighter piled up so many points in the final round that it was almost certain he would carry the decision. But Purnell lost many points by standing there covering up and allowing his foe to beat him continually that he could not overcome the lead. With one minute remaining to be fought, Purnell uppercutted his

MARGATE CITY NINE LOSES TO BRISTOL A. A.

In a slow game featured by runs and hits the Bristol A. A. team defeated the strong Margate City team here tonight 9 to 8. Snyder, Tryon and DeRisi worked for the A. A. team. Going into the last inning the score stood 8 to 5 but the local team got going for the first time in the game and pulled the game out of fire with a four run rally. Leighton doubled. Zefferies batted for Flynn and walked. Snyder doubled. Roe hit a home run, scoring four. DeRisi walked, filling the bases. Melor sent a long fly to deep center, scoring DeRisi with the winning run. The local club was badly crippled by several players playing in the Twilight League with the Rohm & Haas and Odd Fellows.

LOGGERS OUT

McMINNVILLE, Ore.—(INS)—The chances of a logger winning the heart of Esther Rattey, student at Linfield college, appeared very slim today after she listed the use of "snoose" among the things her future husband must not do. Her opinion was learned during a student poll at the college. Most of the girls listed "intelligence and understanding" as their first desire, with "looks an asset but not necessary."

MAKING ERRORS STILL SPECIALTY OF DODGERS

NEW YORK, May 27—(INS)—When the Brooklyn Dodgers sent Linus Frey to the Chicago Cubs everybody agreed the Dodgers might settle down to some steady fielding. . . . But even without Frey in there whanging the ball over the grandstand, the Dodgers still are tops in errors. . . . It seems to be an affliction. . . . Making errors is the one department in which the hapless Brooks can be depended upon.

And to show you how things work out. . . . Frenchy Bordagaray was just another clown while he was with the Dodgers. . . . He's starring now for the St. Louis Cardinals. . . . And reaping all kinds of praises from Manager Frankie Frisch. . . . He's still clowning, but not on the ball field. . . . Just to bring the records up to date. . . . Canzoneri still says he isn't through, although whipped again by Lou Ambers. . . . While Canzoneri may go on fighting, he never will be a great drawing card again.

Another gent who says he isn't through is Jimmy Dykes, manager of the Chicago White Sox, who says he won't quit playing third base for awhile yet, although he won't be in there every day. . . . He's still spry, too. . . . Spud Chandler, the Yankee pitcher, once was a flashy backfield performer at Georgia.

Some one suggests they ought to let John Bromwich of the Australian Davis Cup team play with a racket in each hand. . . . Because he doesn't play a back hand shot, and, instead, shifts the racket to his left hand and plays it as a left-handed forehand.

Vivian McGrath of the same team still plays a two-handed backhand. . . . Players with an eye on the National League slugger title are viewing Alex Kampouris of the Cincinnati Reds with some alarm. . . . He recently belted six homers over a stretch of one week.

When Tom Henrich selected the Yankees as the club he wanted to play ball with and sold himself to them, everybody wondered what could be the matter with him. . . . The Yankees already had an outfield that included Selkirk, DiMaggio and Powell, with Johnson and Hoag as assistants. . . . So the Yankees sent Henrich to Newark. . . . Then they sold Johnson, and Powell was lost for a month with appendicitis. . . . Whereupon Henrich was called upon and there he is with the Yanks, probably headed for the world series.

And, although he appears to have slipped anytime he starts in a tournament, Bobby Jones still can belt them. . . . He scored a double eagle, three under par, on a 565-yard hole recently.
